Ballots Cast in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Businesslike lines of South Vietnamese cast ballots Sunday in nationwide elections that the government hoped would sharply rebuff Communist guerrilla leaders and anti-government Buddhists.

The Communist campaign of harassment continued even as the polls opened. Eleven grenade attacks were reported in Saigon overnight and a Viet Cong company seized temporary control of a village on the city's outskirts in broad daylight election morning.

The final two-day spurge of attacks in and around the capital ended Sunday night.

These included three American servicemen wounded in their billets by grenade fragments.

Sound trucks blared through Saigon as the voting began and the government continued efforts to insure a big turnout.

The weather was fairly fine, reports indicate, but early morning voting, although there was no indication what the final percentage might be.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime hoped the election of an assembly to write a new constitution would reverse a 25-year slide into war, economic and social distress. The election is, in effect, a popularity contest between Ky's administration and the Communist Viet Cong.

Smylie Says Future May Be Issue

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smylie rapped political candidates Saturday night for not mentioning Idaho's future in 1966 elections.

Smylie said "the future of Idaho is still a fragile thing."

Smylie said, "Without courage and resolution the tragedy of a broken, destroyed state can be upon us."

"Chairs of confidence in ourselves is under way," the governor said. "The future of Idaho is still a fragile thing."

Smylie spoke at an Idaho Conference on Finance Association conference. He said he was more concerned now about Idaho's future than at any time during his 20 years in public office.

He said that campaign was not a reference to the qualifications of any candidate but to the fact that the future of Idaho is still a fragile thing.

"We all have a share in the future of this state," Smylie said. "It is the responsibility of each of us to make sure that one man's alleged associates or his political boss or another man's lack of eloquence."

The associates issue has been used against Democratic gubernatorial candidate Charles H. Johnson and the eloquence issue against Republican gubernatorial candidate Don Simonsen of Sandpoint.

Prospects of Sinking Bill Heightened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration determination to let its 1966 civil rights bill slip or swim on a hotly disputed open housing section heightened prospects Saturday that the measure will sink.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Saturday that the bill, which would require the federal government to sue for housing discrimination, would not be acceptable.

Mansfield said in an interview Saturday that the administration position on the bill was "a real problem."

He said the bill would "throw in the towel" on the open housing provision would not be acceptable.

Salmon Area Fire too Hot For Chemicals

By The Associated Press

Winds up to 60 miles an hour swept a forest fire through more than 1,000 acres of timber Saturday in Idaho's prime area—where the Salmon River.

The fire was too hot for effective chemical retardant bombing by planes, said Payette Forest Supervisor Sam Decker, and 200 firefighters were unable to hold lines as the timber fanned the blaze.

It was burning through timber on the rugged slopes of mountains bordering the Salmon River near Flonzie Lake—about 65 miles east of Rigby.

Decker said supplies were being air dropped and tractors could not be taken into the area.

Guerrillas Fire Into U.S. Airstrip

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas fired 13 mortar rounds, plus small arms fire into a U.S. airstrip 100 miles northeast of Saigon early Sunday, but a U.S. spokesman said there were no American casualties and damage was light.

The harassing attack came amidst a sharp ground attack and with attention focused on the election in the South Vietnamese capital.

The spokesman reported little damage to aircraft at the airstrip at Phan Thiet. He said a small plane was shot after the blast was controlled in 90 minutes.

Near the base camp in the central highlands of An-Kiow, the Viet Cong probed with small arms and the cavalrymen repelled with artillery fire and a search unit.

Gemini 11 Launch Scheduled Monday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 11's two eager pilots suffered a second frustrating delay Saturday, this time until Monday, in their attempt to soar skyward for a challenging satellite hunt and space walk journey.

With familiar suddenness, trouble struck at the last minute — in the automatic pilot system of the mission's Atlas-Agena target rocket. Officials decided to replace one section containing a signal amplifier. Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr. were waiting at the door of their spacebus on a nearby launch pad when it happened. They shrugged off disappointment.

LET'S TELL THE TRUTH TO TIMES-NEWS READERS

Readers of the Times-News are well aware of the hostility of this newspaper towards Ralph Harding — when he was a candidate for the Congress, while he was a United States Representative, and now that he is a candidate for the United States Senate.

During all this time, the Times-News, through its editor Lowell Dick, has directed a steady and unrelenting stream of unfactual, biased and misleading personal attacks on Ralph Harding.

In 1962, for example, Lowell Dick wrote an editorial attacking Congressman Harding for having voted for a federal farm bill when, in fact, Ralph Harding had voted just the opposite. Faced with a possible libel suit, the Times-News published a front-page retraction headlined: TIMES-NEWS APOLOGIZES TO CONGRESSMAN HARDING.

So it's not too surprising that the Times-News and Lowell Dick are at it again, with a new smear attack on Ralph Harding — an attack that is as far from the truth now as the newspaper was four years ago.

Times-News Forum Voice of the Reader

SUNDAY, SEPT. 11

T. F. Man Says Statement By Harding Was Incorrect

Editor, Times-News:

According to an article in the Aug. 26 Times-News, Ralph Harding declared that Sen. Len B. Jordan voted "no" on the Atomic Test Ban Treaty, the "important education bill," the Wild Rivers Bill, and the Wool Act.

I believe that it is important to clear the record, since Mr. Harding was correct only so far as the Test Ban Treaty is concerned.

Sen. Jordan voted for, not against, passage of the Wild Rivers bill. He added an important amendment to the bill to extend the powers of the Wild Rivers Review Board to study the best uses of particular states rivers in their respective states.

This amendment helps to assure that Idaho's future economic development will not be stifled by completely "tying up" its wild rivers, the Salmon and Clearwater.

Sen. Jordan voted in favor of the bill to extend the Wool Act. He did vote against the omnibus agriculture bill which contained a "a" wool act. However, the American Farm Bureau Federation had called the omnibus bill a "bad bill" and urged the legislators to vote against it.

Many sheepmen were opposed to the inclusion of the Wool Act in the omnibus bill. Sen. Jordan voted against the omnibus bill, but then he voted for a separate bill to extend the provisions of the Wool Act. This latter bill passed.

In addition, Sen. Jordan co-sponsored two bills to extend the Wool Act, S. 894 and S. 2181, during the current 89th Congress.

Sen. Jordan voted in favor of the Higher Education bill, several other higher education measures, several vocational education measures and legislation to give a tax break to students for certain college expenses.

Currently, he is supporting the School Milk Program, aid to federally impacted schools, and tax breaks for college expenses to school teachers who continue their education among other education measures.

If any of these is the "important education bill" of which Mr. Harding spoke (but which he apparently did not name), his statement was incorrect.

Exact Reprint From An Editorial Appearing in The Times-News, Wednesday, September 7, 1966

IRRESPONSIBLE

Ralph Harding's disregard for the facts may develop into one of the hottest campaign issues in the next few weeks. Several citizens already have been moved to correct the former congressman. Only last Sunday, a writer in the Times-News public Forum came forward to correct Mr. Harding on an Aug. 26 statement in which he lambasted Sen. Len Jordan for voting against the Atomic Test Ban Treaty, "important education bill," Wild Rivers bill and the Wool Act. The writer pointed out, "Mr. Harding was correct only so far as the Test Ban Treaty is concerned."

The Harding statement on Sen. Jordan's vote concerning the Wool Act has stirred up more reaction than anything else. It may be because Sen. Jordan was co-sponsor of S. 894, the bill which extended the National Wool Act. In any event, the attack has boomeranged against Mr. Harding and cost him whatever support he could have claimed among sheepmen, who know all about Wool Act facts.

Even one Twin Falls housewife contacted the Times-News about the Aug. 26 statement by Mr. Harding. A businesswoman who felt moved to comment on the incident said, "I hate to use the word liar in referring to anyone because it's such a blunt accusation. However, if Mr. Harding didn't lie deliberately, then he was not familiar with the facts. Either way, he's not the sort of person I want to see in a public office, let alone the U.S. Senate."

It's easy to see what motivates Mr. Harding in his attacks on Sen. Jordan. He's quite obviously trying to trick the senator into answering these charges. The object is to dupe Sen. Jordan into what amounts to a public debate. It's also clear that the senator has no intention of being duped; he's campaigning like he never heard of Mr. Harding. The upshot of the whole thing could be that Mr. Harding will build himself a reputation of ignoring facts, of not being familiar with facts; in short, an image of irresponsibility that would hurt any candidate for U.S. senator.

Since the above letter and editorial have raised substantial questions or facts, what is the exact truth about Sen. Jordan's record?
Here are the facts, taken from the Congressional Record and other official documents of the U.S. Senate:

Elementary and Secondary Education Act (H.R. 2362)

— Providing federal financial assistance to school districts to improve the quality of their education. Passed by Senate Apr. 9, 1965 by a vote of 73-18.

Jordan Voted "NO."

Federal Aid to Higher Education (H.R. 6143)

— Authorizing a five-year program of grants and loans for construction or improvement of college facilities, junior colleges and technical institutions. Passed by Senate Oct. 21, 1963 by a vote of 60-19. Jordan paired "NO." Conference report on same bill passed by Senate Dec. 11, 1963 by a vote of 54-27.

Jordan Voted "NO."

Food and Agriculture Act (H.R. 9811)

— Revising and extending the National Wool Act Program of income supplement payments to wool growers. Passed by Senate Sept. 14, 1965 by a vote of 72-22.

Jordan Voted "NO."

Nuclear Test Ban Treaty (Exec M-88th)

— Prohibiting nuclear explosions in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water. Treaty approved by Senate Sept. 24, 1963 by a vote of 80-19.

Wild Rivers Bill (S. 1446)

— Including Idaho's Salmon and Clearwater Rivers in the wild rivers system. Sen. Jordan broke faith with Idaho sheepmen — high-end wildlife advocates by fighting against inclusion of these two Idaho Rivers. When the measure was reported out of the Senate Interior Committee on Sept. 28, 1965 . . .

Jordan Voted "NO."

These are the facts — the truth that was just as available to Editor Lowell Dick and to letter writer James T. Jones as it was to Ralph Harding. Perhaps Lowell Dick's personal bias against Ralph Harding blinded him to the need to seek the truth. But how about James T. Jones?

Just a few days before James T. Jones' letter appeared in the Times-News, the Associated Press was reporting from Washington on the identity of the people on Sen. Jordan's payroll. One of these people was James T. Jones. He had received $230 in the second quarter of this year for performing some unspecified service in the Senator's office.

So this letter to the Times-News — instead of coming from a disinterested citizen — came from someone with an axe to grind: A paid member of the staff who didn't want the people of Idaho to know the truth about Len Jordan.

The "Big Lie" then, has come from an editor who is biased in Sen. Jordan's favor, and a man who is a political lackey of Sen. Jordan.

And the truth? The truth came from official Senate documents — as reported by Ralph Harding.

PAID A PLEDGE

Ralph Harding will not be deterred by smear attacks—whether they come from paid political henchmen of Sen. Jordan, or from the prejudiced editor of the Times-News, or from any other source.

During the next two months, Ralph Harding will continue to expose Sen. Jordan's voting record—a record of consistent opposition to the wishes and the best interests of the people of Idaho.

Ralph Harding will continue to report Sen. Jordan's negative votes on the Atomic Test Ban Treaty . . . on aid to education . . . on the Wool Act . . . and his opposition to the Wild Rivers Bill. And he will continue to explain why these votes were bad for Idaho.

Ralph Harding will also report to the voters on Jordan's opposition to the Wilderness Bill . . . Jordan's opposition to medical care for the aged . . . Jordan's opposition to Burns Creek . . . Jordan's willingness to divert Idaho water to the Southwest. After all, these positions, too, have been bad for Idaho.

The editor of the Times-News may not want the people of Idaho to hear the truth. Sen. Jordan and his paid political worker may not want the people of Idaho to hear the truth.

But they'd better get used to it—because Ralph Harding is going to continue to tell the people of Idaho the truth, just as he's always done.

Smylie Cuts Ribbon as Bank Opens

PAUL — Gov. Robert E. Smylie cut the ribbon at a ceremony Saturday which officially opened the Paul branch building of the Idaho Bank and Trust Co.

The governor was assisted by J. Grant McGowan, Pocahontas president of the company, and Otto H. Steinbrink, Paul branch president.

The $140,000 structure has been under construction since April and the bank has been in operation since Jan. 2, 1955. Operations will open in the new building Monday.

More than 1,000 persons attended the ceremony and viewed the structure, which is one of the newest and most modern in Paul.

Smylie based his remarks on the growth of Paul, Harold Wilson, mayor of Paul, said the construction of the bank and the service it will bring is a big step forward in "our overall plan to becoming the leading service center of Blaine and Cassia counties." He credited the diligent work of local businessmen which first instigated the birth of the branch.

Cedric Allen, Pocahontas, was the architect for the college-type building. The exterior is of stone quarried in Oakley. The orange and gold coloring of the stone suggests the interior color scheme of the same color.

The area around the building has been blacktopped.

Rooms in the bank will be available for area organizations meetings free of charge.

George McGowan, Paul, served as master of ceremonies. Other dignitaries attending were K. L. Montgomery, Pocahontas executive vice president of the branch, Reed Starling, Burley, senior vice president, Ned Bills, Pocahontas, senior vice president.

It may well be man's most important challenge: to search and probe his intuitions about religion until he discovers that point in his consciousness where spiritual reality breaks through; the divine touches the human, and God transforms the world with His image. You are invited to hear this public lecture titled "The Demand of Spiritual Discovery" by OTTO BERTSCH, C.S.B., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Attendance Is Same as Last Year

HAGERMAN—Attendance at the Hagerman schools is about the same as last year with a total of 346 in grade and high school classes, according to Supt. George Carnie.

The grade school has 173 students. The junior high school has 81 enrolled and the high school count is 112 students.

Teachers and student body officers spent three days in the Las Vegas area last week, viewing learning centers in five schools in Las Vegas and Clark County.

The group took off from the Gooding airport in three planes and the 25 delegates viewed individualized learning centers with stress on new teaching aids and new methods which will be available in the Hagerman school system, upon completion of the Individualized Learning Centers. Construction will begin soon.

Rooney Weds Sixth Bride In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—First-aid, nervous Mickey Rooney was married Saturday under the old crystal chandeliers of a Las Vegas strip wedding chapel in Marie Lane of Los Angeles, his friend for more than eight years. Mrs. Lane, 43, a divorcee, stood six inches taller than the diminutive actor as he kissed her twice, hugged her for several seconds — and then she cried.

Fifteen minutes before the wedding, Rooney was in the men's lounge of the Desert Inn Hotel casino watching the Clay Milberger heavyweight boxing match on television.

It was the sixth marriage for the 45-year-old, balding actor and the second for her.

Lewis, Clark Trail Signs Are Installed

SALMON, Idaho (AP)—The first signs identifying the Lewis and Clark trail in Idaho have been installed on sections of State 26 and U.S. 12 near Salmon.

The signs were installed at a meeting of the Idaho Department told the committee Friday evening that 12 of the signs have been erected on sections of the highways which closely parallel the historic 1803 expedition. He said the portion of the trail along U.S. 12 from Lolo Pass west will be similarly marked.

This is in accordance with plans of the National Lewis and Clark Trail Commission to mark the trail from St. Louis to the Oregon coast near Astoria.

Marcus Ware of Lewiston, a member of the national commission, told the committee that the commission will meet next summer at Lewiston.

The Lewis-Clark expedition entered Idaho at Lemhi Pass about 20 miles southeast of Salmon, and left the state near Lost Trail Pass on U.S. 93. It re-entered Idaho at Lolo Pass.

The committee made a field trip today to Lemhi Pass and Tower Creek. Tower creek was named by the Clark expedition. It was named for the peculiar rock formations in the canyon.

Homes Sent

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Swedish Red Cross is sending 130 prefabricated homes to the Turkish town of Varto, which was severely damaged by an earthquake last month. The erection of the wooden homes will be supervised by Swedish technicians, and the cost, expected to reach $200,000, will be covered by Swedish aid organizations.

Beverage Labels Asked by WCTU

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A law requiring alcoholic beverages to be labeled "cautionary" in health was proposed Friday night by the president of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Fred J. Young of Evanston, Ill., in her prepared remarks, told the group's convention that the label should be similar to one now required on cigarettes.

The notice she suggests would say, "Warning: Contents alcohol, a narcotic, dangerous to the physical and mental health of the drinker."

Should my child take piano?
Yes. Few things so enrich life as understanding and appreciating music. Piano playing is in itself a rewarding creative outlet. At the same time, it encourages the development of a well-rounded personality, and it promotes concentration, alertness and poise.

What's the best age to start?
Anyone can start at almost any age, but it is ideal when piano lessons and school begin at the same time, since the two complement one another and one benefits the other.

Will my child practice?
Practice problems diminish with this attitude: practice is playing, and playing is fun. Parental expressions of pleasure encourage practice. An appreciative audience during practice acts like a tonic. Prove it to yourself before you buy—rent a piano.

Gem Lovelies Compete For State Rodeo Title

By NORMA HERRINGER

Royalty in all its splendor was noted in Twin Falls this past week as 12 young ladies from throughout Idaho vied for the title of Miss Rodeo Idaho.

This is the first time Twin Falls has had the honor of hosting the state event and the red carpet was rolled out and a full schedule of activities outlined, building up to the final night of competition.

Included among the social events in honor of the contestants were a tea, picnic, banquet and luncheons.

A tea was hosted at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room for the young hopefuls and their parents, with W. Gene Hull, chairman of the Miss Rodeo Idaho committee, as master of ceremonies. Egon Kroll, chairman of the Twin Falls City Commission, welcomed the girls and their parents. Other speakers included Howard Allen, vice president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce; Harold Howe, a member of the Twin Falls County Fair Board; Mrs. Dean Vickers, chairman of the appearance judges; Mrs. Karen Lavenis James, chairman of the personality judges, and Jack Windsor, chairman of the horsemanship judges. Gifts and sashes were presented to

Fashion Show Climaxes Project

The "Women of Tomorrow," numbering more than 200, were presented in a 4-H club style revue Friday at the Tom Parks Pavilion at the Twin Falls County Fair.

Approximately half of these young lovelies were participating in the revue for the first time. All garments shown were made by the model herself and several modeled hand knitted sweaters.

Older 4-H girls modeled clothing from regular cotton dresses to tailored dresses, and even some evening gowns. The younger future homemakers showed items of a simpler nature.

Mrs. Ben Eldredge, Mrs. Twin Falls for 1964, was in charge of the dress revue event. While discussing the remarkable accomplishments of these youngsters, she stated, "It's a wonderful training program 4-H clubs offer because young girls learn the 'know how' of presenting themselves with confidence and as a lady early in life. We all know that the feeling of confidence is always a great accomplishment. We wish every girl could have this training as well as those in the 4-H club program."

As the number of 4-H club girls have increased, the Tom Parks Pavilion has been constructed and made available for the event. Leaders of 4-H clubs say the facilities could not be better for the event because of the dressing rooms, excellent stage and each contestant and official Miss Rodeo Idaho and Miss Rodeo America rules were reviewed.

Thursday's schedule included personal interviews with the American Legion Hall and attending the Kiwanis Club luncheon, where the contestants were featured speakers and answered various questions pertaining to themselves.

Bill Vickers was master of ceremonies for the reception, dinner and modeling event at the Blue-Lakes-Country-Club. Prior to the entry of the 12 contestants, the three chairmen of the judges committees were introduced and they, in turn, introduced the two judges serving with them.

The girls were escorted down the winding stairway one by one by Harriet Sharp, 1965-66 Miss Rodeo Idaho, to the center of the judging area, where Vickers asked them two questions. The questions were, No. 1, What would winning the Miss Rodeo Idaho Contest mean to you? and No. 2, some financial experts have stated that the federal nation is on the brink of another depression. What is your opinion?

Answers to these questions were given and most given without hesitation. After answering the questions, each girl gracefully modeled her western attire and was seated among the guests.

Friday the girls visited with the local merchants, to participate in the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo, attended a luncheon at the Holiday Inn and participated in the horseback riding contest at the fairgrounds.

As the final day of competition drew near, anticipation grew and the excitement was great. Among the contestants, but with the general public. The girls were allowed to "let their hair down" at a picnic Saturday to relax prior to the pageant's finale.

Competing for the title of Miss Rodeo Idaho 1966 were Peggy Jane Scott, 18, Twin Falls, Queen of the Snake River Stampede; Karen Baldwin, 17, Pocatello, Queen of the Old West; Lavon Trapp, 18, Blackfoot, Queen of Blackfoot Rodeo; Ylonda Whitliffe, 19, Boise, Queen of the Idaho Girls Rodeo Association; Beth Williams, 20, Caldwell, Queen of the Frontier Days Rodeo; Jeanne Light, 20, Twin Falls-Fair-and-Rodeo.

Sheila Allen, 19, Idaho Falls, Queen of War Bonnet Roundup; Alice Williams, 20, Caldwell, Miss Magic Valley Western Horse Show; Viv Hendricks, 20, Fort Hall, Queen of the Idaho State Mounted Sheriff's posse; Moot, Rosemary Vassar, 19, Caldwell, Queen of the Boise College Rodeo Association; Linda R. Reynolds, 19, Pocatello, Queen of Pocatello Frontier Rodeo; and Cindy Jo Reddek, 17, Rigby, Queen of the Jefferson County Fair.

Mrs. Meade introduced each girl who then presented a talk. Encourages were presented by Mrs. Lea Hurst to Ida Phillips, Marilyn Osterhout, Sharon Matthews, Willean Kidd, Nan Darrington, Della Hurst, Susan Darrington and Jeanne Darrington. Special guests included Bishop and Mrs. Joseph Preston and Mrs. Beryl Guiles, Burley.

Closing prayer was given by Willean Kidd.

Miss Garnand, Hanel Wed in Catholic Rites

Double ring wedding rites Aug. 20 united in marriage Sharon Garnand, daughter of Ivan Garnand and the late Mrs. Evelyn Garnand, and Paul Hanel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hanel, all Twin Falls, at the St. Edward's Catholic Church.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor Edward D. Coyle performed the double ring nuptials before an altar decorated with baskets of yellow and white gladioli tied with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a original bridal gown of organza. The empire neckline was accented with a tracing of 3-D Venice lace on the graceful panel skirt. The self covered buttons down the back caused the large bow at the waist from which flowed the chapel train.

She carried a formal creation of cascading ivory and miniature carnations centered with gold dust roses. Long of yellow and red ribbon combined with yellow velvet leaves completed the bride's bouquet.

Sister of the bride, Miss Mary Hanel, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Hanel, sister of the bride, Mary Ann Jackson and Jan Hancock, all Twin Falls, and Jean Lemmons, Blackfoot.

Daryl Cameron, Moscow, groom's best man. Ushers were Robert Garand, brother of the bride; Larry Arma, Mike Tabors, Dennis Freeman, Twin Falls, and Courtney Hohnhorst, Hazelton, a fraternity brother.

The reception was held at the Holiday Inn. The newlyweds greeted guests before open white fencing flanked by tall pedestals with baskets of yellow and white gladioli entwined with ivy. The bride's table was skirted with the bride's veil and yellow ribbons. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white and yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. English ivy with gold dust roses encircled the cake. Bismarck cactus holding tall white tapered roses were placed on either side of the cake. A silver coffee service and a silver bowl completed the table appointments.

Orbiting Robots Will Guard High Flight of Gemini 11

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When America's high-flying Gemini 11 astronauts bolt to an altitude record of 83 miles, they can thank a bunch of orbiting robots for guarding their lives.

The robots—unnamed scientific satellites—have been piercing the Van Allen radiation belt around earth since America's first satellite, Explorer 1, sailed into orbit Jan. 31, 1958.

At the specific spot where astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr. plan to aim for their altitude record, the spacecraft will be taking "more radiation chance than going in and getting an X-ray somewhere," said Peter Higgins, radiation specialist at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center.

Although orbiting at a higher altitude, the Gemini 11 crew will get less radiation than a three-day mission at a 185-mile-high circular orbit, said Charles W. Matthews, Gemini project director at the center.

The reason is the location of the globe-girdling radiation belts.

While the 26-foot Agena target satellite is linked up with Gemini 11, Conrad and Gordon plan to trigger the Agena's main en-

Utah Concert Group Back From Athens

ATHENS, Greece. (AP) — The Utah Symphony Orchestra arrived from New York today to give five concerts at the Athens Festival.

U.S. Ambassador to Greece, Philipps Talbot, greeted them. Also at the airport was Sen. Frank E. Moss. D-Utah, who arrived on an earlier flight.

The orchestra, directed by Maurice Abravanel, will present three concerts in the ancient Herod Atticus open air theater at the foot of the Acropolis. Two more concerts will be given in Salonika, Greece's largest city in the north.

Following its visit to Greece, the orchestra will give concerts in Bolzano, Ljubljana, Vienna, Berlin and London before it returns to the United States in October.

During the three-man Apollo flights before the moon-trip, astronauts will attain altitudes between 5,000 and 10,000 miles while orbiting the earth, said Christopher C. Kraft Jr., assistant director for flight operations at the spaceflight center.

Bans Novels

Surveying Bureau Aides Inspect Buhl

BUHL — Three Idaho Surveying and Rating Bureau officials are in Buhl conducting a survey of all public buildings in order to determine new fire insurance rates for individual buildings. Mayor Reed F. Maughan said Saturday.

Results of the survey being made by Glenn Smith, Jack Edwards and David Brant will be made available in about six weeks, Maughan said.

Recently engineers from the Rating Bureau graded the town's fire defense facilities to determine the value of its fire protection. The present survey will apply the results of the recent grading to the individual buildings.

Maughan urged all business firms to cooperate with the inspectors by allowing them to make a complete inspection of all buildings within the city. It is estimated that it will take about two weeks to complete the present survey.

For the man who needs everything.

You've seen ads with ideas for the man who has everything. Full of foolish ways to spend money. Aren't they just tawdry? Well, we don't regard money so lightly. Maybe it's because we talk so often with people who can use every dollar for really important things. Our business is lending money. Sometimes it is extra cash for a vacation. And we're glad to help. But, more often, it's money for more urgent needs — furnace repairs, emergency medical costs or cash to pay off a pile of bills and get monthly payments down to reason. We have nothing against the man who has everything. But, our business is trying to help the man who needs everything. Or, almost everything.

Anderson Hired as Idaho Hoop Coach

BOISE (AP) — A 35-year-old graduate of the University of Idaho was chosen Friday as its new head basketball coach. The State Board of Education approved unanimously the appointment of Wayne D. Anderson, a native of Spokane, who was graduated from Idaho in 1953. As head basketball coach, he succeeds Jim Goddard, who resigned after three unsuccessful seasons to accept an administrative position with the State Department of Education in Oregon.

Dr. Phyllis Hartung, university president, recommended Anderson's appointment. Anderson, who was assistant to Goddard, was recommended by the university's Athletic Board of Control. Dr. Hartung said the board's salary as head coach will be $10,500 per year. Anderson has been serving as head basketball coach in addition to his duties as assistant basketball coach. Dr. Hartung said a new basketball coach will be named.

Anderson has been on the Idaho coaching staff since 1953, when he became freshman football coach, assistant basketball coach and head basketball coach. He gave up the football assignment in 1960.

Following his graduation in 1953, Anderson coached one year at Roseburg, Ore., then went on active duty with the Army.

After he completed his period of active duty he returned to the University of Idaho as director of intramurals, while working on his master's degree in education.

Three Power Twins Over Orioles 7-2

MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL (AP) — Harmon Killebrew, Jimmie Hall and Jerry Zimmerman smashed home runs Saturday, powering the Minnesota Twins to a 7-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The triumph was the Twins' 16th in the last 12 games and their second straight win over the American League-leading Orioles. Killebrew's three-run blast off John Miller in the first inning after Hall drew a walk and Tony Oliva singled, started Tim Merritt to a 3-1 lead.

Killebrew's homer was his 30th of the season and 32nd of his career, tying him with Hank Greenberg for 21st place on the all-time homer list. Killebrew also singled and doubled.

Carey Downs—Dubois 54-12

CAREY — Carey ran up a 54-0 lead in the first half Friday and ended the rest of the way to a 54-12 victory over Dubois. Larry Patterson ran for two of the touchdowns and threw for three with Dick Payne on the end of two of the touchdowns and Rand Stewart caught the other. The remaining three were run in by Allan Orchard. The Panthers converted six of eight tries.

Colleges Might Drop Baseball

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Pacific Athletic Conference voted Friday to consider dropping baseball because of raids by professional teams.

Conference President Larry Olson said he will appoint a study committee within a month and expects an initial report at the January conference meeting.

Cross athletic director of conference schools reported that "professional baseball" was "marrying to professional athletes and to give them a contract before they receive a college degree. He said the athletic directors proposed the study considering abolishment of baseball.

Wood River Has 13-0 Win Over Oakley

HAILEY — Wood River scored a pair of touchdowns in the first half and rode them into a 13-0 victory over the Oakley Hornets Friday afternoon in a game marred by numerous penalties.

The Hornets came out much bigger losers than the score indicated, however, as senior quarterback Doug Cranney sustained a broken collarbone in the third quarter and will be out for the remainder of the season.

Doug Barlaso took the consolation honors with a 4 and 3 decision over Duane Sorpa.

May Points Rockland by Hansen 39-6

ROCKLAND — Gregg May scored three touchdowns in the first quarter Friday to point Rockland to a 39-6 victory over the Hansen Huskies.

May scored on runs of 43, 66 and 34 yards with Ron Nelson passing to Evan Krest for the conversion on two of them.

Hansen scored its lone touchdown in the second after the Huskies took over the half on a 40-yard punt. The Huskies scored on a 20-yard line. Len Don went the full 88 yards in the first play.

The Bulldogs added another in the second, one in the third and one in the fourth.

In the third Edward Nelson intercepted a pass and ran 25 yards to score and in the fourth Ron Nelson to Edward Nelson, pass covered 52 yards for the tally with May kicking the extra point.

L. A. Purchases Dick Schofield

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers acquired shortstop Dick Schofield from the New York Yankees Saturday.

In return, the Yankees will receive a player to be named later.

Schofield, a 31-year-old switch-hitter, batted .305 as a utility infielder for the Yankees. He will join the Dodgers Sunday.

Joe J. (Muzzey) Brown, Dodgers general manager, said Schofield was acquired as shortstop insurance during the final three weeks of the National League season.

Maury Wills, the Dodgers captain and regular shortstop, has been playing on two injured legs and John Kennedy, his back-up, has been bothered by ankle injuries.

Jets Stave Off Miami In 19-14 Win

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The New York Jets, bolstered by the return of Joe Namath in action, needed all the help they could muster to stave off a 16-passes in the first half. The Jets had gone ahead, 9-0, however, in the second half and scored a 19-14 victory.

Rick Norlin of Kentucky, a quarterback who commanded at least as big a price as Namath, did the bulk of the carrying as the Wolverines drove to the 10-yard line. Owens made it over from the five two plays later.

scoring run as the underdog Dolphins came close to pulling it off.

Namath, injured in the first game of the American Football League exhibition season, took over in the second half as the Dolphins had given Mike Tallefero a rough time in the early going.

Tallefero, who had led the Jets to four straight pre-season victories, completed only four of 16 passes in the first half. The Jets had gone ahead, 9-0, however, in the second half and scored a 19-14 victory.

George Bauer.

After Namath went in, the Jets scored 10 quick points on three 43-yard touchdown passes and Pete Jaques, a recent pick-up from San Diego, intercepted a Namath pass for a 27-yard Wood.

Miniature T.F. Rodeo Will Feature Young Contestants From Over Magic Valley Area

Everything will be in miniature. There will be little and little contestants, and there will be little time for hanging on.

Other than that, however, it will be big. Big thrills for both the contestants and spectators and a big entry list from over this entire area.

The event is the Little Buckaroo Rodeo—billed as the world's first miniature rodeo—and it will be staged at Frontier Field in Twin Falls starting at 8 p.m. Friday, and continuing with two contests—one at noon and the second at 8 p.m., —on Saturday.

The unique event, staged for the first time in Twin Falls, is being sponsored by the Stake Quorum of 70, LDS church Douglas Phillips is in charge of publicity.

Featured will be bareback riding, calf roping, calf riding, a wild horse chase and other rodeo events. The stock—featuring Shetlands and Brahma calves—will be furnished by Burdette Hunsaker, Tremonton, Utah. She has been engaged in such show production for nearly 15 years, Phillips points out.

Contestants will be between the ages of 7 and 14 years and sponsors said a full list has signed up. There will be 85 youngsters from the Magic Valley area and another 35 from other areas—all eyeing the state championship, which will be the feature of the Saturday night show.

"These champions then will compete in the regional event at Provo, Utah, on Sept. 24. After the regional comes the national, which will be the feature of the Saturday night show."

"The Little Buckaroo rodeo is operated on the same basis as a top-notch Western rodeo except everything is on a miniature scale," Phillips said.

"The contestants sign up and pay a nominal entry fee to participate in the various categories. They are judged on a point system, with the winner in each event receiving a special trophy."

"Competition Friday night and Saturday starting at noon will be wide open, with the winners from over Idaho competing for state titles Saturday evening."

Phillips pointed out that many outstanding cowboys "got their start by competing in such rodeos as this one. One of the better known is Wilson Pate, a senior at Gooding high school, who only recently won the all-around cowboy title in the National High School Rodeo staged at Wetumka, Okla. His winnings included a two-year scholarship at a Wyoming college."

"The many people who have experienced the thrills and the humor of the Little Buckaroo Rodeo attest to the wholesome family entertainment of such an event," Phillips said.

He pointed out that tickets are obtainable at Macle's Book Store or the Ranch and Town Western Wear Store to be and will also be available at the gate.

"If this goes over, and with the number of contestants signed up even long before the event is scheduled, I do not see why it will not, we will make it an annual event in Twin Falls," Phillips said.

Sunday Feature SECTION

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1966

FROM THE EXPRESSION on the face of the contestant, she is more apprehensive than the pony which hopes to toss her onto the ground. It is typical of the action which will take place next Friday evening and also Saturday at noon and 8 p.m. at the Frontier Field. The event will be the first Little Buckaroo Rodeo to be staged in Twin Falls. A full slate of 120 contestants ranging in age from 7 to 14 years have signed up to participate. Idaho winners, who will go to the regional, will be selected at the Saturday night show.

THE FEET GO UP and the animal comes down. It is typical of the action which will take place here Friday and Saturday during the first annual Little Buckaroo Rodeo slated for Frontier Field. The event is sponsored by the Stake Quorum of 70 LDS Church.

Fancy of General Public Captured by Children's Theater Activities

BY A. O. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

Being a small community which occurs in Twin Falls are relatively rare. But one is here now and bids fare to be like the rolling snowball which gets bigger the farther it goes.

The Community Children's Theater is the rolling object which is getting bigger, each time around. In fact, it has reached the stage where people are finally realizing that the name itself is a little misleading.

Back in 1962 or thereabouts the Times-News Feature Section came out with the planning story of the production of Tom Sawyer. People who read it—like this writer who wrote it—thought the movement was just what the title said. It was a theater in which children would do the acting.

It was also a theater in which other children—or the proud parents of those making the cast—would make up the audience.

Adults? It never entered the thoughts of anyone excepting the audience has room for both, although the main audience idea is to expose children at an early age to the theater.

So, from a humble beginning which saw 12 children appear for tryouts as actors in the drama of Tom Sawyer, the local movement has grown to the point where children turn out in droves to try out for the parts.

High school students join them and more adults try out each time than can be used. The National Children's Theater of the Year Award for 1965 was earned.

Right now, locally, the productions are put on in the O'Leary Junior High School auditorium.

Tryouts will be Monday and Tuesday evenings, Sept. 19 and 20, at the Idaho Power Co. auditorium in Twin Falls.

This will be the first of two productions for the 1966-67 season. The next, still not selected, will be next April.

Those of people closely connected with the idea...

Now, after these many years, all is crystal clear. The theater is for the "play-acting" use of both children and adults and

Jeann Arthur Returns for TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jeann Arthur, one of Hollywood's golden girls, rode to stardom on her looks, a wonderful way with a comedy line and a husky voice that had a suggestion of a crack in it. Then she quit Hollywood.

She left behind a reputation as a fine comedienne and a shy actress in a community of competitive extroverts.

"I wasn't shy," says Miss Arthur with a grin. "I was just bored."

She isn't bored now and finally has come to love Hollywood. Television, so often maligned by actors, has turned the trick.

Miss Arthur, husky voiced, in fact and her slender 5 feet 3 inches, weighed 110 pounds when she was launched on a new career next Monday in a series called "The Jean Arthur Show" on CBS.

She plays a lovably uninhibited, wise-and-mildly-kooky lawyer in partnership with her son. This may come as a surprise to Jeann Arthur fans, who keep seeing her as a lovably uninhibited, wise-and-mildly-kooky girl playing opposite stalwart men named James Stewart and Gary Cooper in those late evening reruns.

Miss Arthur has weathered the years between "My Darling Clementine" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "The Plainman" a lot better than most of her contemporaries.

She made her last "Hollywood" appearance in 1957, but it was filmed in Utah, so her absence from Hollywood has been even longer than that.

She said the place, she called "Not the work, but the lack of privacy, those terrible prying fan magazine writers and all the surrounding exploitation. But I think that's all changed. Anyway, I'm enjoying all of this — even interviews."

On a recent day, Miss Arthur had a long drive to her home and described her leisurely life at her Carmel, Calif., beach home.

After quitting motion pictures, she returned to her native New York and lived in a small apartment. She was a refuge through the Hollywood years, she found a life.

This halcyon existence was interrupted a couple of years ago by a visit from a CBS executive and Lucille Ball. They wanted to persuade her to take a whirl at television.

It was interesting, she recalled, and she was impressed by Lucy, but she didn't have a show. "I could do at the time."

But it stirred Miss Arthur thinking about acting again. "I thought maybe it was finally time to look at some television," she admitted without a blush. "So I bought a set."

Then, reassured, she agreed to do a tentative television pilot. In a "Gunsmoke" episode a year ago. She liked everything about it, the role, the method of work, the people involved.

Now, in a remarkable demonstration of faith in the longevity of "The Jean Arthur Show," she has a year's lease on a home high in the Hollywood Hills with an option to buy it.

Having her own house to "run" is part of everyday fun for little Darla Draper, whose father, Dwayne Draper, Paul, designed this miniature summer house for her and her 10-year-old sister, Jan. Draper and his wife, Betty, designed the house as a surprise for their two daughters. Draper worked after equipment to make the conversion. It took him a week to work it out and remove the bugs. He bought the motor but built the rest of the needed materials.

"No one knows the time which goes into the making of a single every day item," he noted.

The children were running low on toys and "Mom" brought up the idea of a "Roll-A-Loop" similar to the stick and wagon wheel game the children played with several years ago.

He made the product out of a casting material and they said it was almost every-where. Apparently it was "out dated" for this generation as the kids failed to catch on to it. Some businessmen told Draper it was made too well and therefore they couldn't make any money out of it.

Some said that business establishments need items that are cheaply made so they can continually be sold on the market. According to Draper, he is tired of buying something and having it break down a few hours after he takes it home. It costs him

One day when the family had company, Mrs. Draper casually stated: "I've had a picnic table we could have a barbecue tonight." Draper quit moving his jaw and spent the next three hours in the shop where he constructed a table with attached benches large enough to seat nine persons. "Mom" had her barbecue.

Mrs. Draper is getting so she almost regrets saying "show about making" it. If he likes the idea, he stops everything and work begins anywhere from the kitchen table or the basement to the shop. She said they work day and night on a certain article until it is finally completed.

Draper said the patterns and tools are entirely original and to anyone else would appear Chinese. He saw puzzle. Both Mr. and Mrs. Draper agreed that if anything happened to him, his efforts would be useless to anyone else.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

By KEITH R. MAXWELL

First United Brethren Church
All too often, we tend to take short-cuts and make serious omissions in our enthusiasm to reach a desired end. Most of us feel that we are doing it well and are right.

Frequently, many of our public buildings, including federal buildings, schools and churches, are not as sound as they ought to be, for the builders make "short-cuts" in erecting them due to financial problems or to the lack of available materials.

I am also fearful that many of our social revolution plans will ultimately prove around because of the short-cuts made in instituting them or the situations that are disregarded and thus omitted in planning for them. In bringing about a social revolution and the changing of existing distasteful conditions, we are convinced that one must start with the creature who is responsible for those situations—whether it be race problems, pornography, drugs, or even seemingly harmless high school pranks. As the individual is, so goes the social order.

The Bible puts man, himself, at the center of the changing process. Consequently, Jesus, who has many things relevant to the transforming of the creature.

First He offered the invitation—an invitation that can start men on the road to personal, emotional, moral and spiritual rehabilitation. Notice His statement in Matthew 11:28: "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Notice particularly that invitation—"Come unto me."

Jesus invited people to come to Him for He was a popular personality. One writer has indicated His popularity through his appeal to children.

"It is interesting to observe that Jesus' life was found in children—clustering around Mohammed or Buddha. But they came to Jesus. The personality of Jesus as revealed in the Gospels was attractive. He enjoyed life. He was a popular dinner guest. Jesus wanted people to follow Him for He wanted them to discover the source of His enthusiasm for life.

Furthermore He wanted people to come to Him for He was a generous giver of health and healing. The sick of the day as He healed the dead, of peace as He solved the inward problems of people and of hope as He taught of God's great plan for men's lives.

Finally, He wanted men, women and children near Him for He knew that He was the slinger's Savior. He did not condemn the Samaritan woman who had experienced the emptiness of romance, marriage, and divorce; instead He gave to her a new life, a superior life, and an attractive life. The person who is going everywhere today in search of peace of mind and a purpose for life should try responding to Jesus' invitation: "Come unto me."

Next Jesus presented the description of those whom He invited to come to Him—those of you who are weary and overburdened.

And who hasn't been weary of life and overburdened with its cares and frustrations at one time or another? In fact, there are many who live in that state of existence much or all of the time. There are perhaps those who will read this article who have become so disillusioned with life that either now or in the past they have contemplated suicide.

Jesus asks you to try His way in response to Jesus' words: "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." How can a frustrated society be helped if her anxious people fail to discover the source of and help for worthwhile, purposeful living? No one who is genuinely academic should disqualify Christ's way without sincerely trying it for personal emotional, moral, and spiritual rehabilitation.

Why not start your life new in response to Jesus' words: "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest?"

Appreciation of Art Will Be Side Benefit-Realized From Local College

Establishment of the College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls will have many side advantages and one of them will be a surge in art appreciation. This is the conviction of Lloyd L. Davidson, a "Twin Falls" professional photographer, who came here nearly four years ago from Walla Walla, Wash., home of Whitman College.

Actually, he said, "I have found the Twin Falls area somewhat lacking in art appreciation. There are a few who appreciate a creative attitude, but for the most part it just slides along without going in any particular direction."

"In Walla Walla I found that the college atmosphere and activities provided the lift which art appreciation needed. I am sure that when the local college gets going in a permanent home of its own that one of the results will be a rise in art appreciation."

Davidson pointed out that cultural things, rather than a full fare of strictly entertainment attractions, are good for a community and an "in-balance" between the two is to be desired.

The area of the country lends itself well to creativity in both photography and in art and there is no reason why it is not more generally accepted," he said.

Davidson, who operates Lloyd's Photos at 138 Second Ave. N., had been through Twin Falls several times on vacation trips, so he said, it was only natural that when he decided to leave the Walla Walla area he came to Twin Falls.

Like most men who operate a one-man business, he has little time for outside activities, but he does take his "business holidays" by taking pictures. Several of his creations have won awards in state and international competitions. Only recently his entries won two ribbons in the state fair at Boise.

Davidson was born on a farm near Norton, Colo., and was a graduate of the Norton High School in that area.

After a year at college he started work with a commercial photographer's studio in Lincoln, Neb., and after several years there he was employed in the visual aid department of the University of Nebraska. In 1948 he went with the reproduction section of the Air Force Base at Lincoln.

For three years he was cameraman in the photo engraving department of the Nebraska State Journal and it was from there that he moved to Walla Walla, where he entered the photo-engraving business.

He is married and is the father of three children. A son is station agent for West Coast Airlines at Pullman and a married daughter lives in Walla Walla.

The youngest child, Martha, is a seventh grade student at O'Leary Junior High School.

He is a former member of the Twin Falls Lions Club and is a member of the First Methodist Church. He also belongs to the Twin Falls Writers' League and the International Professional Photographers Association.

He has two hobbies. One is writing, the other is bowling.

"I never seem to stop to follow either one of them much of the time," he laughs.

Hollenbeck Named to Rupert Post

RUPERT—Wayne Hollenbeck has been named public works administrator for the city of Rupert and Clark Cameron has been named to fill the vacancy made by the appointment, city officials said Thursday.

Hollenbeck, who has served as city councilman for 14 years, was named during the regular council meeting Tuesday night. Cameron, a former Rupert mayor, presently is farm equipment dealer. The vacancy of public works administrator was made by the resignation of Howard Leisen, effective Sept. 30.

Hollenbeck has been a distributor for Continental Oil Co. for the past 28 years and has sold his equipment to Norvin Dickson, who has been operating as Westcott Oil. Dickson will take over the Continental distributorship Sept. 15 and will operate the two plants.

Hollenbeck also has served as a deputy county auditor, owned a drug store in Paul and has been a car salesman and feels his experience as city councilman will help him in the new position.

The city council named Al Southall to the library board to replace Henry Brearcliff who has resigned. The council also named Dr. Robert C. Phillips as chairman of the board.

Bids for a new tractor-type plow mower for the city were opened and the bid of Alvin Chalmers in the amount of $1,021 was accepted.

Councilmen agreed to participate in a civil defense program and discussed proposed improvements to the curbs around the business district. The matter was tabled for further discussion.

Calvin drivers can accidents be lessened—the state patrolman said. He urged members to read his experience as city councilman—concentrate on courteous, defensive driving at all times.

Eradication of Trash Fish in Famed Island Park Reservoir Starts Soon

By JIM HUMBRID
Idaho Fish and Game Department BOISE—Millions of Utah chubs, along with lesser numbers of trout and kokanee will be eradicated from the big waters of Island Park Reservoir, some 30 miles from the city of Ashton in eastern Idaho, during early October.

Public meetings have been held at Rexburg and Island Park, where almost unanimous approval of the chemical treatment project was obtained from both sportsmen and resort owners. The Idaho Fish and Game Commission recently authorized the expenditure of $30,000 for the project.

This man-made body of water near Yellowstone Park backs up behind a reclamation dam for about 12 miles to the west. Because of heavy water demands by farmers this year, and general drought conditions across all of southern Idaho, the drawdown by the end of the season is expected to leave no more than 13,000 to 14,000 acre-feet of water in the reservoir.

Thousands of outdoor recreationists come to the surrounding Island Park Country every year to relax, fish and enjoy nature. All of the region is noted for its outstanding fishing, and the reservoir itself helps maintain the reputation throughout the state and nation.

A common place for many years has been hundreds of boats at one time on its surface, and other throngs of people along its shoreline in favorite places to catch trout of quality and size.

Usually it is not economically feasible or practicable to chemically treat reservoirs of the size of Island Park. Drought conditions of 1958 and again this year changed all that by cutting the water area down to size. One consideration is that the water level in the reservoir must be below 16,000 acre-feet. It would be about 1,000 surface acres instead of the usual 8,000 acres. Thus, treatment cost is estimated to be about $1.25 per acre foot.

Tough fish eradication eight years ago was brought about by a lake-over of the multiplying Utah chubs that literally crowded game fish out of house and home.

Following treatment the first time, the big reservoir was closed to all fishing during 1959. During the year the Department stocked over 2½ million rainbow trout fingerlings two to four inches long. One and one-third million more fingerlings were released the next spring.

In June, about 6,000 fishermen flocked to Island Park to test the results of the reservoir rehabilitation work—the chemical treatment and restocking. The count during the season was estimated 25,000 fishermen-visitors. They were not disappointed. No chubs showed up in the creek. Rainbow averaged just over 11 inches long on opening day.

Shoshone School Enrollment Has Varied Pattern
SHOSHONE—Enrollment in the Shoshone High School and Junior High School has increased, but the elementary school is down this year over last, according to Superintendant Kenneth Crockett.

Total enrollment for the entire school is 531, compared to 550 last year, meaning a drop of 19 pupils.

At the grade school enrollment is 216, 40 each in the first and second grades, 31 in the third, 42 in the fourth, 33 in the fifth and 52 in the sixth. Last year enrollment was 270.

Junior high enrollment is 107 while last year it was 99. High school enrollment totals 169 while last year it was 171.

This year there are 46 freshmen, 26 sophomores, 37 juniors and 47 seniors.

Bob Hope in 52nd Movie In 29 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope, almost an institution—him and apple pie—is not above that vanity of authors—mentioning his latest book.

In remembrance mood over luncheon lamb chops in his dressing room, the showman reflected that he first arrived in Hollywood after six Broadway shows—29 years ago last Wednesday, of 1938—(which you can see any night on any channel.)

After a favorable mention by columnist Damon Runyon, Hope said, "They picked me up for a couple more pictures and, the first thing I knew, I had a contract." His present film, "Eight on the Lam," marks his 52nd starring role.

"It's been a thrilling 52 years," said Hope. "And that part," he thumped a thick manuscript, "has been an exciting part of it. I've had my greatest kicks doing this stuff."

"This stuff" is entertaining troops, which has brought him praise from presidents and took him a great kick in World War II.

The book "Five Women I Love," scheduled for November publication, describes his Victorian trips the past two Christmases. The title refers to five loves in the latest trip.

Anita Bryant, Carroll Baker, Kaye Stevens, Joy Henderson and Diana Lynn Bette, Miss U.S.A.

Authorship, however, in collaboration with his seven writers—is only a sideline for the energetic Hope. He is producing as well as starring in the movie. With 15 leading ladies from his past movies, the speediest Hollywood comedy special for Sept. 22.

His enthusiasm for work? "If you like it, you can keep movin'," said Hope.

A weekend appearance before 55,000 at the Ohio State Fair has only refreshed him. "It was like a vacation, almost like comedy relief from regular chores."

Also it's a good job he'll make a third trip to Viet Nam next Christmas.

"Actually I don't lead a strenuous life," Hope claimed, "it's the care of my health—that the proper food, get my rest, play a lot of golf."

At 62 he could pass for a decade younger. A blood clot in his left eye cleared up, but the vision blurs if he overexerts.

"It's my barometer," he said, meaning fatigue warning, "but I try to stay ahead of it."

Fancy of General Public Captured by Children's Theater Productions Here

been the power and the guiding thrust behind the entire venture. As director she ties everything together.

"Our actors take their parts seriously," she wrote in a letter to the children's theater organization. "They are not just playing away from stock phony characters. They can be a child again unless the people up on stage are believing and all times. We want the child to be touched to the very marrow."

"One of our goals is to touch the child's life through beauty and excitement. A child is quick to react vocally with one and a half when touched by beauty of color and design."

"And so it goes. We find out that the children's theater is for adults too—both on the stage and in the audience seats.

We find that more people want to act than there are parts for. We find that people like this sort of thing, and that it gets more popular all the time.

We find all this despite modern day distractions which sometimes lean away from culture, away from anything that does anyone good.

It—the theater—is a fine example of community cooperation and the will of a group to work together for someone's benefit.

Another couple of months and the next production will be here.

Coffee Break Leaves No Rest Period

BY HENRI LUET

PHUOC I.E. South Viet Nam (AP)—They have a sort of coffee break in the Vietnamese war, except there is seldom time for coffee.

The breaks came infrequently recently for U.S. paratroopers searching for the enemy in the steamy jungles of Phuoc Tuy Province east of Saigon.

When the company commander passed the word down to the platoons for a coffee break, Sgt. Larry Thompson of Los Angeles sat down and drank thirstily from his water bottle. Soldiers have little time to boil coffee.

Sgt. Adolph J. Brecher of Saginaw, Mich., dropped the 40-pound pack he'd been carrying all morning and lit a cigarette.

Squinting on the damp jungle floor, Sgt. Denis P. Elwell of Secaucus, N.J., used the few minutes of respite to peer down the barrel of his rifle to see how much dust and moisture had accumulated. He swabbed it out.

The old pin of the unit, Sgt. Mrs. Robert O. Clark of Glensville, Tenn., stood against a tree, the sweat streaming down his clean shaven face. He had been involved in a firefight for 12 days as the soldiers carved their way through Phuoc Tuy.

Few of the men talked. Sgt. Homer O. Morrison of Buckeye, Ohio, a drop of sweat on his nose, looked into the distance. He was thinking of his wife and his back home, the dangers that lay ahead for him, the man who had been killed in the past weeks.

Pfc. Eugene Cabagawalk of Pittsburgh, Pa., was looking at his brow, smudged across at a muddy protrusion on the ground. Weary, on the verge of heat prostration, legs and back aching with twigs and branches, his buddy had kept plugging on, forcing himself to keep going on the endless march.

The company commander whispered the order to get moving again. There would be more breaks later on, but between this one and the next there might be the enemy and war.

JAY PAGE and Pam Shirls played out parts in the successful Rumpelstiltskin. Adults, teenagers and youngsters will part in the two annual productions.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

Thanks to whomsoever sent us the merchant's token from Mrs. R. D. Twin Falls. We still desperately need tokens from Decoy, Albion and Hagerman.

Question: From Mrs. R. D. Twin Falls. "I have been searching for a 1965 nickel which cannot seem to find one. Where there any made with this date and if so, what has happened to them?"

Answer: This is a common question today from collectors. According to mint reports, about 133 million nickels were manufactured with the 1965 date on them. Recently wrote the mint and their reply states that the nickels were all distributed to the Federal Reserve banks and from there they have been sent out as needed by other banks.

Evidently there has not been much need for nickels here, since they have not appeared in any number. It would a few years ago, a collector could ask at his bank and have some uncirculated money ordered for him but this practice has been discontinued.

I suggest you consult your bank and ask them if they have any, or perhaps to have some.

Question: From Mrs. L. A. M. "The Mormon Church struck a great deal of gold. Is this true? What can you tell me about it?"

Answer: It is certainly true that the Mormon Church struck gold coins—but it is evident in the few still to be found.

Mormon gold was struck in 1846-1849—1846 being the first year. It was found in the deposits of 24, 5, 10, and 20 dollars. In 1850 the 5 dollar coin was struck in 1850.

The cologne was made from the necessity of having small change, much as other private individuals, claimed having found a small gold building in Salt Lake City. Brigham Young personally supervised the minting of the cologne.

The cologne has the eye of Providence inscribed on it, under a bishop's mitre and on the reverse side, claimed having found a small gold building in Salt Lake City. Brigham Young personally supervised the minting of the cologne.

The Green Thumb

by GEORGE ABRAHAM

PEACH PITS: If you save pits from your favorite fruit tree and plant them, with the fruit be good enough to eat. You might get fruit that's almost as tasty as the parent tree, and if you do, you're lucky. In most cases, though, the fruit is not so tasty and may lack the color and size of the original parent. Since it takes just as long to grow a poor peach tree as it does a good one, I'd suggest that you buy a true-to-name variety and you'll know what you're growing. If you have plenty of time and space and don't care whether you get a good or bad peach, there's no reason why you cannot experiment and plant the peach seed. There's nothing to starting a tree from a pit. Just plant the seed in a bare spot in the garden, or where you want the tree to grow, and by spring it'll sprout into a fine seedling. You can move it or leave it grow where it sprouts.

After the seedling is up and well grown you might want to change your mind and find a favorite one to the seedling in August. It's simple to do. Just dig a hole in the back end of the base, insert a "lame" bud from your favorite variety and wind a rubber band around it to secure the bud and make sure it is in contact with the cambium layer (a light green tissue just beneath the bark).

GREEN TOMATOES: Get a lot of green tomatoes on the vines? Don't throw them out! They have a hundred uses so be sure to save them. They're good to make tomato pie or green tomato pickles. Wash and slice a peck of green tomatos and half fill thick, let soak in brine made of one cup table salt and one quart of water, for two days, then drain. Cook slowly in vinegar. Add one and one-half pounds brown sugar, one tablespoon whole cloves, mustard seed and a pinch of red pepper. Seal in glass jars while hot.

FREE: Send me a self-addressed envelope containing five business "sticks" for Using Green Tomatoes. You'll be surprised to see what you can do with these. I'll send you a book on how to use them. Also, if you have a favorite recipe which should be added, please send it along so we can use it.

CORN TROUBLES: Here's a good use for plastic bags, sent to me by a reader. I decided to raise corn for the first time this year, so I placed plastic bags over each ear of corn and it does a fine job of keeping out insects. Even chesed cloth works for me.

Several have told me about this fine tip, and some have wondered if it's true. I have heard from the heat and moisture which accumulates inside the bag. My answer is no. Don't worry.

PACHYANDRA: Also called Japanese Spurge, this useful ground cover is one of the best. It's full sun it does not develop crown rot. It's a good shade plant, but it still is a good plant to have. Now's a good time to transplant pachyandra (crackly-succulent) to your garden. It will amaze you. One method is to pull the stems and tie them into a knot, then root in a hole. Before you do, the stem has to have roots on these so they'll take off quicker, but sometimes the plants will grow without roots.

KEEP THEM WELL WATERED during the fall months. Another trick is to let the plants grow in a vase of plain tap water. You'll enjoy the green foliage. After it has rooted, then plant them in the ground where you want them to grow permanently.

Set the plants about a foot apart. If you have a lot of them, you can take a few down in a vase, your plants where they serve as a much and easy to grow moisture. Do not apply liquid over the entire plant, as it may smother them. Merely soak them down in among each so they can help the pachyandra grow better during the dry fall months.

PLANTS: There's a widespread notion that if a house plant does not do well repotting into a larger pot, it's "dying." It's not always true, and if a plant fails to thrive due to some cultural mistake such as overwatering, the plant may be unsuitable soil, repotting into a larger pot only accentuates the trouble.

Usually plants need repotting when the pot is crowded with roots, and the available plant food nutrients in the soil are used up. Sometimes you want to maintain the same size pot to fit a space in the window.

When repotting, try to keep the plant in the same soil. If you're merely removing an inch or two from the top and replacing with a fresh mixture of sand, peat and loam. Before you do this, you might want to check the plant out of the pot, check the drainage, and roots. If the roots are all "balled up" break off a few. It won't harm the plant. Then add a few pieces of charcoal or pebbles to the bottom of the pot for drainage. Slip the ball of soil and roots into the new pot and water it well.

If you do want to shift the plant into a larger pot, it's not necessary to use pot much larger than the old one. The use of too large a pot results in the soil remaining too wet. Take your thumb and forefinger and gently pack the soil so it is in contact with the pot. A space between the pot wall and the soil allows water to run out at the bottom and your plant will not benefit from watering.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: Dr. C. Castledine of Fox Lake, Ill., has beautiful peonies. They look healthy but each year they have been having less and less blooms, until this year not a single bud came. Please tell me what to do?

Your peonies have the dread-dreaded blight, a fungus disease which causes the buds to blast. Your best bet is to cut the stalks back close to the ground now, and burn all debris. Next, drench the entire bed with captan or Zineb, to kill any disease spores which are apt to overwinter and grow up your leaves and debris before winter sets in.

Stop No. 2 consists of a spring campaign to prevent the disease from recurring, or even getting started. To do this you keep all new growth covered with Captan, Bordeaux or Zineb, making sure that the growing tips and buds are all covered. Repeatedly it is a lot easier than attempting to eradicate the disease after it has started.

Popular Meter

MURPHY (AP)—You might say all the parking meters in Idaho's Owyhee County are out of whack.

Shirley Al Barberis admits that if you're out to take the facts you'd have to say the county's only meter is inoperative.

The meter was installed a number of years ago, as a joke, in front of the Owyhee County Courthouse.

Barberis made a penny sticking out of the meter slot Thursday and tried to push it in. It wouldn't go and further investigation showed the device needed cleaning.

"It's been about two years since it was cleaned and the dust has built up on the works," Barberis said.

The coin box contained six pennies. Barberis said the yearly take is about 75 cents.

Jews Search Burial Place In Germany

BY HUBERT J. ERB

BERLIN (AP)—They came from all over the world looking for their dead, carrying a little suitcase to be in Germany.

They are Jews and their destination at the end of a shaded street in Berlin is the Weissensee Cemetery, where 114,000 Jews are interred.

The dead of Weissensee are not the victims of Nazi death camps. Most of them were buried before World War II. But with the war and the deportation of Jews from Germany, the deaths of some who managed to stay in Berlin just before war ended, about 5,100 Jews were registered in Berlin. Once there were 170,000.

One visitor who came to Weissensee was a journalist from Jerusalem. He and his wife fled Berlin at the Nazis in 1933. They had misgivings about coming back, even now, but the husband wanted to find his father's grave.

"He died in 1942 in Berlin," he said, "I know that from people who were still here then. But I do not know where he was buried. This is why I came to Weissensee."

A woman attendant helped the man look up his father's name in the registers, but his father's name was not listed.

The visiting son said he would check further with other authorities in the West Berlin district where his father lived.

Before the couple returned to West Berlin, they walked through the cemetery, looking for their father's grave.

The cemetery looked neat but it was obvious that there was a scarcity of workers to look after it.

"We cannot look after each grave properly with the money the community gets," the attendant said.

"Some bodies are sent from abroad to be interred in family plots but this is becoming rare. What has happened is that the attendant said, 'that is no problem. But the costs are great.'"

There also is a Jewish cemetery in West Berlin, founded in 1934 because of the city's political division. That was before the Communists took over the city in 1948.

Even then, a spokesman for the West Berlin Jewish Community Center said, "We have had to have their dead near them, where they knew they could reach them."

Forbush Schaefer, an official at the Jewish Center, said that about 1,200 Jews are buried in the new cemetery.

Schaefer said there are about 1,200 Jews buried in the new cemetery.

8,000 Jews in West Berlin out of 1.2 million. Just like a lot of more than 25,000 in West Germany and about 800 in East Berlin of a total of only 1,300 in all of East Germany.

"As you see," he said, "there are not enough Jews in Germany for there to be a Jewish quarter any longer."

"We cannot go to East Berlin except when the Communists give wall passes. And then only anyone else."

United States Could Get Involved in War in Thailand, Experts Fear

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Americans today eye Thailand with growing concern. Enough portents and parallels exist to evoke worry that another wedge of Southeast Asia could involve U.S. forces in a new war with Communist guerrillas in the palm-leaf jungles of the peninsula.

"We ought to know what we are getting into," said Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee recently. "Are we to have another Viet Nam war?" To inquire into the possibilities he announced his committee would hold hearings on the U.S. commitment in Thailand.

Worry over Thailand's place in a Communist timetable dates back to the founding of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in 1954, and has deepened considerably in the past two years.

Two years ago the Communists, with the blessing and assistance of Red China, announced formation in Thailand's impoverished northeast area of the "Thailand" Independence Movement.

In January 1965, Chen Yi, Red China's vice premier and foreign minister, declared: "We may have a general war going in Thailand before the year is out." Days later, a Thai-language broadcast, possibly emanating from China, announced establishment of a "Patriotic Front of Thailand." This was patterned after the National Front for Liberation of South Vietnam.

The Thai guerrilla movement is so real, in fact, that it has been named "the Viet Cong movement of the 1960s."

But there are big differences in the two situations. Thailand, for the most part, is prosperous and stable. Its people, 90 per cent Buddhist and far more united than the Vietnamese, on the whole dislike and distrust Communists and Chinese alike. Unlike Viet Nam, Thailand has a sturdy middle class and many of its peasants — 80 per cent of the population — are well off by Southeast Asian standards.

Thailand never was colonized, never partitioned. Since World War II it has been one of the staunchest allies of America in the Far East.

Thailand's role in the Viet Nam war, as the site of bases whence U.S. planes and troops probably have made the country even more an attractive target for subversion and guerrilla tactics, inspired and supported by the Red Chinese.

Since early 1965, Communist activities in the northeast — susceptible to infiltration across the border from areas of Laos held by the Communist Pathet Lao forces — have risen considerably.

There are as many U.S. troops in Thailand as there were in Viet Nam early in 1965. The Pentagon has declined to disclose the figure. Unofficial estimates recently put it at 27,000 to 35,000.

A U.S.-backed air and naval base complex has been enormously expanded. Last month, the U-Tapao airfield, built by the Americans in less than eight months, was turned over to Thai officials. This installation to the south of Bangkok has a field 11,500 feet long with 200-foot-wide runways, capable of accommodating the biggest U.S. bombers. It is 650 miles from Hanoi. Besides U-Tapao, built at a cost of $40 million, there are four other U.S.-built jet air bases in Thailand. All have been turned over to the Thai government.

There is little secret about the use of Thai bases in the Viet Nam war. As long ago as January, The Associated Press reported from Saigon that probably 60 per cent of air strikes against North Viet Nam were taking off from Thai bases. With the U-Tapao base now available, the percentage seems bound to rise. It should be far easier for B-52 bombers to reach North Viet Nam from there than from Guam.

At the enormous Sattahip naval base complex, 100 miles south of Bangkok, Americans are building a complete major port at a cost of about $30 million. When it is completed within two years it will have deep-water berths, rock breakwaters, new fuel storage tanks, pipeline supply systems, improved port installations, ordnance depots, telecommunications and supporting facilities.

In addition, new roads with military meaning are being built in the country and existing transport routes are being upgraded. Military supplies which would be needed in the event of attack have been placed in forward positions.

Thailand has had a military government, ruling in the name of the king, since 1958. There is some unrest about this, particularly among intellectuals and elements who say they want more democracy. A new constitution was adopted in 1962.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 11—Born today, you are somewhat inclined to take things for granted, and not to be appreciative enough of what comes your way. You accept love and affection eagerly and willingly, but you often forget to treat these things as gifts—gifts which can be taken away and which, when they are removed, can leave a great vacancy in your life. Learn to think of love or friendship as some great treasure; then you will be able to receive it and to give it as a blessing.

You have a high degree of intellect but because you find learning easy you are inclined not to make as much of it as you could. Learn to respect the capacities and abilities of your own mind; learn to utilize every bit of knowledge you have in whatever you do. Otherwise, you may find that you fall through lack of mentality but through lack of thought.

Children have a natural affinity for you. Perhaps it is your easy acceptance of them that draws them to you. Regardless of the reasons why, however, the fact that the young approach you with their problems places upon you a trust which you must take great care not to betray. Never underestimate your power to hurt children—and never play with that power!

To find what is in store for you tomorrow—select your birth day and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, September 12
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—You may find that you fall through lack of mentality but through lack of thought.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A day filled with anxiety and nervousness. Let things take their course.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—A day for acknowledging your debts even if you can't begin to repay them at this time. Let others know you haven't forgotten.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Avoid brooding over past errors. Now is the time to look ahead to a bright future and to not accordingly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Method and regularity should be the cornerstones of this working day. Don't allow selfish thinking to spoil a good thing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Business associates may well provide more annoyance than aid today. Do your best to overcome another's faults.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—You can turn an unpleasant surprise into an advantage if you act quickly. A wise decision can set things in rights before you know it.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—What may seem incomprehensible to you may be quite clear to another. Best to get your story straight from the horse's mouth!

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—A day for certainty of thought and action. The Taurus who hesitates to take full advantage of the situation may lose the advantages altogether.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Though your attention may wander, you would be wise at least to look interested in another's problems. Personal popularity is at stake.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Lead interest to routine chores through varying your method. Operational difficulties may prove both challenging and beneficial.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—A perplexing day for the Leo who has failed to get a line on those with whom he has dealings today. Avoid walking in cold on a meeting.

School Desegregation Resistance Continuing

By DON MCKEE
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Desegregation of public schools has expanded considerably this year in the South. But with the spread of change have come spurts of new resistance.

White pupil boycotts, challenge of federal guidelines and at least one punch in the face of a school superintendent.

Associated Press spot surveys of the 11 Southern states, from Virginia to Texas, indicate a probable doubling of the number of Negro pupils in schools with white children since last year.

The most significant development, however, is the start of desegregation in many school systems, a major effect of the controversial guidelines drawn by the U.S. Office of Education.

"We desegregated as many facilities as we could," said a school official in Knoxville, Tenn., where 20 of the 68 schools in the district have Negro and white teachers.

The bill would permit the VA to use such facilities as the VA Hospital in Boise in conjunction with colleges, universities and other hospitals, to train medical personnel.

Church said the bill—recently passed by the House—must next be considered by the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare.

According to Church, Boise is one of two sites the VA has mentioned as possible prototypes for medical schools under the proposed program.

"We have just one system for everybody now," said Supt. Jacob Johnson of Winchester County, Va., classrooms and faculty were integrated in the county, eliminating the dual school system.

Two Negro schools closed in Jacksonville, Ala., in becoming victims of racial history. Despite the Alabama Legislature's enactment of a law nullifying school board agreements on federal guidelines, integration increased in the state—many systems are under court orders.

The Alabama nullification law was pushed through by Gov. George C. Wallace, who vainly tried to block universal integration three years ago by standing in a doorway at the University of Alabama.

Ironically, Wallace's son, George Jr., enrolled Tuesday at a Montgomery school where 16 Negroes desegregated classes in August. From the Democratic nominee for Arkansas governor, Jim Johnson—who opposes the federal guidelines—saw his twin sons enrolled in a desegregated school.

SOUTH'S LUCK THREE-SUITER

Sometimes it turns out that a very bad suit break is a blessing in disguise. South was worried about the correct way to play his heart game. Should trump break 2-2 he would have no trouble making a grand slam. He could, in an over-trump, he could simply pull trump and eventually concede one spade and one-club. With a 3-1 break things wouldn't be as nice. If South played out his ace and king, an opponent might be mean enough to lead the third trump and spoil South's plan to ruff both a club and spade in dummy. On the other hand, if he only played out one trump he might lose two overtricks to divided trumps.

South led West held the first spade. He did not really fear that East would ruff a spade continuation. In fact, he hoped East would place that third lot-South-ace his ace of spades to get a club discard.

West continued spades. South took his ace and played out the ace of trumps. West showed out and at first glance South appeared doomed to defeat. He had lost a spade and seemed destined to lose two trumps and a club. The only way to make the hand would be to cause his club loser to disappear into thin air.

South was able to do just that. He needed luck in spades, clubs and diamonds to compensate for the bad luck in trumps, but he got it.

He ruffed a spade in dummy, played ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, entered dummy with the king of clubs, ruffed another diamond, entered dummy with the ace of clubs, ruffed his last diamond, cashed his king of trumps and conceded the last two tricks to East's high trumps.

See other side for full information!

It's bad enough to suddenly find yourself in a hospital bed with weeks or months of helplessness ahead of you. But it's truly tragic when there's no money coming in for you, or for family living.

This depressing turn of events is experienced every year by thousands of hapless wage-earners. And there's no telling when it might happen to you! Current health statistics are grim enough to warn against continuing to bet yourself against the odds.

Every day, illness and accidents send 70,000 people to the hospital. In the 12 months ahead, more than one family in every two will send someone to the hospital — at costs up to thousands of dollars!

Hospital insurance or Medicare will help absorb much of this cost... but neither will provide for the every day cost of living that goes on — and on — and on. A mounting cost, mind you, that can quickly wipe out your savings and throw you in debt.

This is why the "Direct Cash Plan" was originated by American Republic Insurance Company.

With it, you can close the existing gap in your protection, and be fully prepared for any emergency that lays you up — and lays you off!

Right now, thousands of people are protected against unforeseen lack of cash by American Republic's amazing new "Direct Cash Plan."

As a result, they can depend on collecting $52.50... $105... or as much as $157.50 a week if misfortune should strike their household — and the ambulance speeds away with a sick or injured loved one.

ALL over America, in every city, town and hamlet where working people live, thousands of wage earners, young and old, both men and women are making a sad and costly mistake.

They are relying solely on regular hospital insurance or "group" insurance to see them through emergencies caused by sudden illness or injury.

True, this kind of health care protection helps pay the doctor, the surgeon, the hospital and laboratory. BUT THAT'S AS FAIR AS IT GETS!

Think about it! Your health and accident insurance WON'T PAY family food bills, rent, mortgage or car payments. Nor will it keep your family in clothes and other essentials. Yet these expenses grow at an almost unbelievable rate during a period of little if any income.

That's why American Republic's new "Direct Cash Plan" is so important to you.
It helps protect you against the staggering debt that can result from a prolonged hospital stay. It keeps your family on its feet even if you are flat on your back!

American Republic's "Direct Cash Plan" pays you a weekly income while you are hospitalized - starting with the very first day. And it pays - and pays - and pays - up to a full year!

It pays in addition to all other insurance and income you may have. The money comes direct to you, for you to use as you wish - for any purpose whatsoever.

No wonder American Republic's
"Direct Cash Plan" is like having an "$8,000 bank account". That's how much income protection it's worth if you are hospitalized for a full year. Imagine!
$8,212.50 for you and your family to live on - and it's TAX-FREE!

No medical examination is required* and you can apply for American Republic's
"Direct Cash Plan" regardless of your age, health or occupation. Even if you are 65 or over, and eligible for Medicare, you can still collect this extra cash when an accident or illness puts you in the hospital. It not only helps you pay household bills and other everyday expenses, but it can also be used to help pay for private room and private nursing care that Medicare is not intended to cover.

You need coverage for any accident from the moment your policy is issued, and for sickness 30 days from the date of issue.
Unless, of course, your hospital care is due to war, mental disorder, maternity, dental work or when you are in a U.-S. Government or Veterans Hospital.

Your "Direct Cash Plan" can never be cancelled by American Republic because of age, health or number of claims. It is Life-Guarded Protection. This means it is Guaranteed Renewable. It can be YOURS FOR LIFE as long as you make timely payment of current premium.

According to the latest 5-year figures,
American Republic returned a greater percent of premium dollars to policyholders in claim benefits than any other of the Top 30 insurance companies offering individual accident-and-health insurance. When you are protected by American Republic, you have protection that pays!

Don't delay! Protect yourself this new "low risk" way! Mail the attached prepaid card for complete facts.
